John Smith

John is an incoming freshmen and is constantly checking up on websites to see what needs to be uploaded and by what date. John is spending a lot of his day logging in to different websites and really wants some way to check all of his deadlines in one place so he does not have to check on different websites.

Tim is a third year art student and is constantly and he doesn't know if everything that is required is uploaded. Tim is trying to find a new website that allows him to upload his required documents and shows the deadlines for those documents.

Tim just got an email from the school that they need an updated immunization form and the deadlines is on the website

Tim uses his USC VIP ID and his USC password to login to the website.

A navigation bar includes links for Home, Move-In, Roommate Agreement, and Log Out. The main content area is titled "Home" and displays a message: "You do not have access to this process. Please contact housing with any questions." Below this, there are sections for "Current Booking", "Current Roommate(s)", and "Current Roommate(s)" (repeated). Each section lists housing options and contact information. A large image of a campus building is shown. To the right of the image, there is a "Welcome to the South Carolina Housing Portal" message. Below the image, there is a "APPLY NOW" button. At the bottom, there is an "Accessibility" section with text about the university's commitment to providing a web presence that enables full public access. A small social media widget for the University of South Carolina is also visible.

Cobalt and Crimson were both apart of the Class of 2020, and recently graduated, and were best of friends. After the ceremony, they decided to chat about University.

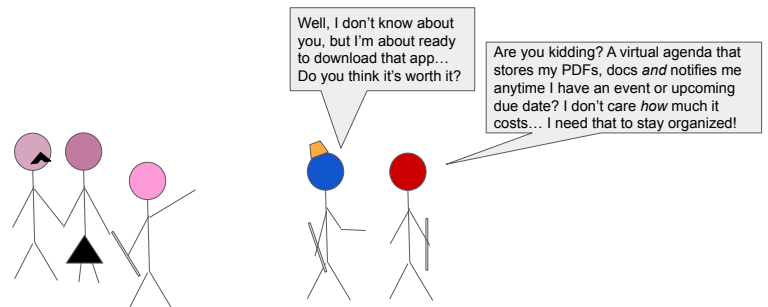

Upon exchanging details, they both agreed that the process to applying to University and registration was difficult and futile, until catching up with another friend, Taffy, enlightening them upon "Document Storage."

Taffy took it upon herself to educate Cobalt and Crimson on the lifesaver that is Document Storage-- and application all incoming freshmen or transfer students need in order to start off the year on the right foot!

Holy moly, Taffy! The app shows you that much?? It's practically a storage drive AND an agenda! I need it!

No kidding, Crim. I have no clue what I'd do without it. Literally so stress free this Summer!

Upon preaching the necessity of Document Storage, it is evident that in order to have a stress free Summer and have make the college transition much smoother than it should be, it is evident what you should do...
